How Can Sound Therapy Help My Autistic Child?

Thursday, February 4th

7:00pm - 9:00pm

Jowonio School - Community Room
3049 E. Genesee Street, Syracuse

Sound therapy has been around for over 50 years but only within the last 10 years have the results been found to significantly help the autistic child. By repatterning the energy of the body, the symptoms and behaviors of autism appear to change. However, in order to identify which therapy(ies) will help each person, a diagnostic evaluation that determines the need for the therapy has been developed by Dorinne Davis, recognized as the world's foremost sound therapist.

Dorinne S. Davis, MA, CCC-A, FAAA, RCTC, BARA, is the President/Founder of The Davis Center, Succasunna, NJ. She is the author of 4 books: Sound Bodies through Sound Therapy® (hailed as the primer for all sound therapies), Every Day A Miracle: Success Stories with Sound Therapy® (16 heartwarming stories of sound therapy successes), Otitis Media: Coping With The Effects In The Classroom (A teacher's compendium of classroom activities and responses), and A Parent's Guide to Middle Ear Infections (An informational book for parents). She has written chapters in numerous other books. She has demonstrated the scientific principles behind the Voice-Ear-Brain Connection in The Davis Addendum® to The Tomatis Effect, and established The Tree of Sound Enhancement Therapy® from which her Diagnostic Evaluation for Therapy Protocol (DETP®) provides the correct administration of any sound-based therapy. Ms. Davis is credentialed in 20 different sound-based therapies and her background as an audiologist, educator and sound therapist provides the foundation to The Davis Center's unique Total Person approach, called The Davis Model of Sound Intervention®. The Davis Center is considered the world's premier sound therapy center and Ms. Davis is recognized as the world's leading sound-based therapist. She has worked with thousands of people, young and old, learning challenged and normal, making change with their response to sound using sound-based therapies.
